“I would like to thank you so much for leading us on our fascinating journey through your beautiful city. We couldn't have had a better guide- your knowledge and love of Charleston came through so beautifully and we all feel so lucky that we saw it through your eyes.”

– Kathy, Clearwater, FL

“Thanks so much for your knowledge, your lovely enthusiasm, graciousness, patience, and energy! You made our visit extraordinary and I’ll always look back on it with wonderful memories.”

– Sue, Tuckahoe, VA

“What a lovely time you gave us while in Charleston! Most grateful to you for arranging such amazing homes and gardens for us to view.”

– Emmie, Asheville, NC
Let us custom design a Charleston tour for you and your group.

As the oldest community-based preservation organization in the nation, the Preservation Society of Charleston provides countless cultural opportunities with a special focus on art, architecture, and gardens. Venture beyond the garden gate and experience Charleston’s history in its most authentic form.

With access to the finest private houses and gardens in Charleston, let us customize your tour to meet the specific needs of you and your guests.

You will be led by licensed certified guides and professionals in their field and, in most instances, meet the homeowners and wonderful stewards who call Charleston home.

They all have deep knowledge of Lowcountry culture, history, architecture, and horticulture.

Tours can be arranged for half-day, full-day, or multi-day. Pricing is based on level of customization.

For inquiries, please contact the Society at 843.722.4630 or preserve@preservationsociety.org.

“The City is the oldest I have yet seen in America...Every house seems built to the owner’s particular taste; in one street you seem to be in an old English town, in another some continental city in France or Italy. The variety is extremely pleasing to the eye.”
